

August 18, 2020

www.vpcma.com

New Underground Storage Tank Requirements

The Virginia Department of Environmental Quality's guidance regarding the New Underground Storage Tank (UST) Requirements that owners and operators must meet by Jan. 1, 2021, is now final!

The document provides guidance on how DEQ will implement regulatory requirements related to:

- Release detection for emergency generator USTs
- Spill prevention device, overflow prevention device and containment sump testing
- Walk-through inspections
- Airport hydrant fueling system requirements
- Field constructed tank requirements

For any questions regarding the new regulatory guidance, please contact Alicia Meadows (540-562-6729).

Greenbrier Will Offer VPCMA Group Rate for Reservations Made by August 26

As we notified you last week, the VPCMA Annual Meeting for next month has been cancelled. Please remember to cancel your Greenbrier reservation as soon as possible, and not later than August 23. Should you wish to still visit the Greenbrier on those dates, they have agreed to honor our group rate of $219. If you did not have reservations and wish to visit then, they will honor this rate, but only if you make reservations by August 26.

follow us on twitter

You can now check out event announcements, relevant news articles, and other information on the VPCMA Twitter feed.

Click here and follow us!